

Patrick Reynolds Assembly

Please join us in welcoming Patrick Reynolds to Kewanee!

Wednesday, October 12th

9:00 a.m. Kewanee Hospital
East/West Conference Room

1:15 p.m. Petersen Auditorium
Kewanee High School

He's a grandson of tobacco magnate R.J. Reynolds, but after smoking killed his father, Mr. Reynolds spoke out publicly in Congress against Big Tobacco.

His advocacy of national, state and local legislation and his motivational talks to youth have made him a well known champion of a smoke-free society.

Mr. Reynolds will tell his personal story in two different venues in our community. On the morning of October 12th at Kewanee Hospital, he will offer an update on the state of tobacco control in Illinois to Hospital staff members, Board members, volunteers, Development Council members and business owners/Human Resource representatives. He will also cover the importance of the smoke-free campus at hospitals.

In the afternoon, he will give a second talk to the students of Kewanee and Wethersfield High Schools. Individuals who are unable to attend the morning assembly are encouraged to attend the afternoon presentation.
